It is urged by the defendants' counsel that the plaintiffs must have known of Lawrence's authority to sell, because there were certain proceedings in the Probate Court in the cetate of Victoria any reservation to themselves of the right Kamamolu in which Lawrence appeared as the attorney for the heirs of Kaleiheans. I do not regard this as of much force, for no public notice of one of the old-fashioned retiring Hawaii-ans, and Kalama seems to be possessed of the parties themselves present. Lawrence signed as attorney for the heirs including W. Austin, for whom he had no authority whatever, and though the price agreed upon for the lands was $1200 the sum of $200, was retained on account of W Austin's not signing the deeds.

It would seem that the notoriety of the former suits against Her Highness Victoria's Guardian, and the unusual circumstances of their having constituted an attorney in fact, though residents in this kingdom ought to have put the Adminis-trator or whoever represented the Princess' estate, on their inquiry. It would have been an easy matter to have ascertained from the parties them-selves, if they were willing to sell at this extreme-

The strongest point in the defense is the order put in evidence; it is in these words: Honolulu March 2nd, 1869.

HON. A. J. LAWRENCE, Local Circuit Judge, Maul.

Sir. please pay to Kauslua (w.), or order the sum of Six Hundred and Fifty Dollars out of the proceeds of sale of Helumoa and Kanewai.

KAUPEA, (SIGNED.) / NABUA. ENDORSEMENT. Honolula April 28th, 1869. I have Five Hundred Dollars in my hands benging to these parties who signed the within order, which I am willing to pay on this order when they will give me a receipt in full of all demands and accept this order for the above amount subject to the conditions above specified.

(Signed) And. J. Lawrence.
It is a well settled principle of Law that if a person, with knowledge of the fraud, acquiesce in the contract expressly or do any act importing an intestion to stand by it, be cannot afterwards Does this transaction make out a case of ac ence in the fraud? The date of the order is March 2d, 1869, more than a year after the power of attorney was given to Lawrence and undoubtedly after the parties had knowledge of Lawrence's fraud on them, if fraud it was. Mr. Widemann testifies that he pains to make them understand it, nor did he tell them they would lose their rights in the lands if they signed the order.

The witness states that these parties had come attorney to Lawrence was written in the English language, of which the orators parties to the power of attorney, which is they owed his principal, Mr. Spencer, and he, ascertaining that they had borrowed the money for the purpose from Kanslus, got them to sign this order that she might have some security; but it appears that on February 27, 1869, a few days previous, these parties had given a note to Kanalun for this very smoont of $650, and had executed a mortgage in her favor on the very lands now in question and on some other lands on Hawaii, and their acknowledgements to this mortgag were taken the very day this order was signed.

Though this would be a very strange transaction among intelligent people, yet we must remem-ber the readiness with which old natives sign papers, not clearly understanding their import. It seems to me that they must have confused this order with some of the other transactions that were going on in Mr. Widemann's office at the time and did not intend by this to ratify or ac-quiesce in Lawrence's sale, for all their other acts and words clearly show no such intention.

Lawrence's acceptance of the order being willing to pay the sum of Five Hundred Dollars on condition of the parties giving him a receipt in full of all demands, shows that he deemed their discharge of some value to bimself; but there is no evidence that any effort was made to procure their discharge of Lawrence. I am aware that great caution should be used the power of attorney was obtained by fraud. It must be remembered that Lawrence occupied towards these parties the relation of attorney or solicitor to clients, and equity would interpose to you, and to talk with the Alii about the confidential relation to secure a power of attorney atterly adjust and inequitable, for it gave him the power to sell their lands for any sum however insignificant and inadequate, and was in its terms irrevocable until the objects for which it was given shall be accomplished by him."

It would do violence to my sense of justice to allow such a transaction to stand, for if Lawrence had not been inclined to sell be could hold the real estate tied up by this power so long as he lived and thus deprive these parties of their right of alienation.
